Description:

Ask a Question, Get a Story Hannah Rockwell (School of Communication)

I have a number of artifacts in my office that all have a story behind them. Come ask me questions about anything you see. I will tell you about where the object came from, how it is meaningful, and why it is part of my life as a teacher and researcher. Since I am in a School of Communication, much of what we do relates to finding good stories and conveying them to external audiences in a compelling way.

Biking in Chicago Traffic Lisa Reitz (Water Tower Campus Life)

Do you like riding your bike but aren't confident enough yet to brave it on the city streets of Chicago? Learn some tips from Lisa Reitz, Graduate Assistant in Ministry at WTC. Students will learn how to maneuver in heavy traffic, use hand signals, and use appropriate clothing and lights. You'll never take the CTA again after this quick tutorial! Your challenge: If you have a bike helmet, bring it. We'll make sure it's fitted correctly before you hit the streets.

Coffee Michael Moore (Campus Ministry)

This is a gem of Rogers Park and a relatively unknown coffee shop to most students. Located just off the Morse stop the Common Cup is a vital part of the "heart of Rogers Park." Mike Moore serves at the church next door and the coffee shop is actually owned by his co-pastor. Stop in, have a conversation with Mike, get introduced to the space, and if you have time try their pie, it's amazing.

Cookies and Callings Susan Campbell & Diana Stencel (Wellness Center)

Come to the Wellness Center to decorate homemade cookies with Loyola Alums Diana Stencel and Suzie Campbell and ask them about their roads from Loyola back to the Wellness Center.

Cookies with the Dean

Come have a chat with the Dean over some of her famous homemade cookies!

Cooking for All Sarah Wilson Merriman (Residence Life)

Ever seen the allergy statement on a restaurant menu and thought there's no way you could live without your favorite food? For many of us we don't have a choice, but that doesn't mean we can't still enjoy the food we eat. Come learn about how some people's lives are impacted by something as basic as the food they eat and try some of my favorite allergy friendly foods, straight from my kitchen. If you have a food allergy/intolerance this is the perfect treasure for you - everything will be free of the top 8 plus gluten!

Guacamole is Not Just a Dip Pamela Alvarado (Student Leadership Development)

Guacamole is more than a dipping sauce to me. One of my hobbies is spending time with my family and making guacamole. The moments and stories I treasured come to my mind while I mix those ingredients that make my famous guacamole. Join me Pamela Alvarado, Graduate Assistant in Student Leadership Development, and make some memories of your own while we make some guacamole!

Harry Potter and the Search for Truth, Love, & Justice

Aana Marie Vigen & Tisha Rajendra (Theology)

Are you a lover of Harry Potter? So are we! Dr. Tisha Rajendra and Dr. Aana Marie Vigen will facilitate a discussion of the "big questions" and central themes that surface in the Harry Potter book series. Depending on student interests, we will discuss together how the books understand evil, salvation, love, friendship, sacrifice, etc.

How Rome hooked me on Loyola forever

Ever think of going to the Rome Center, but not sure if it's for you? Come hear about one Loyola staff/alumnus/student who enjoyed studying, living, and then working in the Eternal City! Tim Love is the Director of the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution, but did you know he also speaks Italian and loves Italian soccer? Come visit to learn more!

Immersion Trips Maryse Richards (Psychology)

I will share my trips to Africa with the university and my recent trip to work in an orphanage in Guatemala with my family and how they both have affected my life. Please come ready to share what you hope to get from the social justice focus of your education here at Loyola.

Jesuit Given a Hawaiian Name Jerry Overbeck, S.J. (Water Tower Campus Life)

Hear the story of how the high priest of the Mo'okini lineage gave this faculty member a Hawaiian name.

Last Word!

Together, we will have fun and play a new board game called "Last Word!" It's very quick and easy to learn so don't worry if you've never played it before! It's an opportunity to not only have fun together but to also engage in conversation with Rabia Khan, Assistant Director for First-Year Halls for the Department of Residence Life. She loves getting to know students and making them laugh and feel good about choosing Loyola!

Listening in on Deaf Culture MaryMargaret Sharp-Pucci (Niehoff School of Nursing)

Led by a deaf faculty member, this treasure introduces students to deaf people, language and culture. Learn to use beginning and interesting signs in American Sign Language (ASL). Listen to stories of interactions between deaf and hearing people, including jokes and historical anecdotes.

Literature in YOUR Words Dr. Dawn Overstreet (Office of the VP for Student Development)

Dawn Overstreet, PhD is Assistant VP for Student Development. She grew up in Northern Idaho and as a result loves all things outdoors...biking, skiing, horse-back riding, etc. One of her favorite quotes comes from C.S. Lewis, who said, "We read to know we are not alone." Come with a reading that has in some way moved, inspired and left an indelible mark on you (poem, excerpt from a piece of fiction or non-fiction, prayer, etc). You'll be asked to read it out loud and share why this piece has touched you in some way.

Loyola's Live Bobblehead Sr. Jean (Campus Ministry)

Just come by and meet Loyola's live Bobblehead!

Maroon and Gold for Life Nicole Meehan (Alumni Relations)

Once a student. Forever an alum. Learn more about what's so special about your soon-to-be alma mater and its rich history. Don your maroon and gold and come ready to talk about your fav LUC tradition.

Multi-faith Treasures Patti Ray (Hillel at Loyola)

Come embark on an "historical tour" of the unique multi-faith relationships at Loyola, and leave with a relevant "treasure" as a gift!

My Collection of Masks Michael Maher (School of Education)

I received my first mask when I was ten years old. My sister and brother-in-law brought it back from India. Since then I have purchased masks and other items from my travels, and I have received them as gifts from friends. I enjoy telling people about them.

Outdoor Adventures Ann Solari-Twadell (Niehoff School of Nursing)

It is a treasure to understand all that can be discovered about self, nature and health through engagement with the outdoors. Come, visit, explore and learn of opportunities that can be experienced in having fun outdoors any time of the year!

RePurpose

Come to Mundelein 804 to create an art project with repurposed materials. We will also discuss the three pillars of sustainability, people, profit, and planet

Run This City Karin Murray (GPEM and SCPS)

Chicago is a runner's city! Come down to the Water Tower Campus ready for a short walk/jog/run. All abilities welcome! Be sure to wear athletic shoes and clothes you can move in.

Sampling Osaka Marilyn Krogh (Sociology)

Osaka, Japan is the "Second City" to Tokyo. Like Chicago, Osaka is known for its down-to-earth sensibility and distinctive food. Come make & taste some takoyaki and view some humorous video clips from our sister city!

Scrapbooking- A Treasure of Memories Shannon Howes (Student Leadership Development)

Memories are Beautiful - Scrapbooking is the art of arranging photos, artifacts, quotations and other memorabilia in a creative and meaningful way. Join Shannon Howes, Director for Student Leadership Development, as she shares a hobby that gives her great joy. Basic supplies (colored paper, stickers, scrapbook tape, scissors, etc) will be provided. Your challenge: bring your photos / artifacts and create a page of your own.

Shelter Bunny Binkies

In West Roger's Park, you'll find a little animal shelter with a bright red door. Since the Middle Ages, a red door has been the symbol of a safe haven. This is what Red Door Animal Shelter provides for the animals in its care. Red Door is one of only five multi-species, no-kill animal shelters in the nation that rescues, spays/neuters, and adopts out rabbits as well as cats and dogs. Come hang out to discuss the shelter's mission, needs, and volunteer opportunities and meet an adoptable rabbit in our care!

Snail Mail Akeya Peterson (Off Campus Student Life)

During this session you could expect to ditch your Smartphone as your primary form of communication and engage in Snail Mail! You will write a letter (birthday card, thinking of you note, etc.) to whomever you prefer. Please bring the mailing address of one or two people you plan to write. Just think how special the person will feel when they receive a handwritten letter from you. Paper, markers, stationary, envelopes, and stamps will be provided.

Strong Bodies...Strong Minds

Strong Minds...Strong Bodies! - April is a fitness enthusiasts as well as the Fitness Director at Halas! Learn about the different ways you can stay healthy by being active through Halas and learn about your own fitness level at the same time! Your challenge: take a fitness assessment with April!

Taste of Chicago Melissa Pollay (OSCCR)

Looking to explore the food scene in Chicago? Come chat about your food interests, likes and dislikes, and I'll give you a few ideas of new restaurants to explore in the Chicago area (and perhaps even give you a snack to take with you, too...)

The Personal Life of Abraham Lincoln Joan Holden (Wellness Center)

Come to the Wellness Center and meet with Joan Holden, Associate Director, who also has a special interest in Abraham Lincoln. Spend some time talking about the personal life of President Lincoln, and learn about the obstacles that he overcame to become one of the most revered presidents in the history of this country.

Traveling is the KEY

Are you curious about different countries? Do you think you may want to travel while in college? Interested in other people's experiences abroad. Come kick 'it with Domonic and learn about his passion for traveling. He'll showcase pictures, talk about different travel experiences, and invite you into a whole new world...and you won't even have to leave campus. Your challenge? Bring a photo of your journey and be prepared to share why it matters to you.

Your Story - an Introduction to Ancestry Research Mark Archibald (Advising)

Have you seen that show, Do You Think You Know Who You Are? Ever wanted to do some super sleuthing into your family ancestry? Come to this session to see what tools Loyola is already providing for you and how to start to put together your family tree.

We Are the Champions! 1963 NCAA Men's Basketball Carolyn O'Connell (Athletics)

Come have your photo taken with the 1963 NCAA Men's Basketball National Championship Trophy. Learn about how Coach George Ireland recruited the best talent to Loyola University and was one of the first coaches to field a team that started four african-american players and why the first round game against Mississippi State is now referred to as the "Game of Change", the beginning of the end of racial segregation in sport.

Where's Iggy? Megan Barry (Center for Community Service and Action)

Where's Iggy? See how quickly you can find St. Ignatius. Then, we'll talk about the places we've each visited, lived or called home. What's your favorite place, and what do you find there?
