Loyola University Museum of Art
September 25, 2010

Location:
820 N. Michigan Ave.
Chicago, IL 60611
(312) 915-7600
Museum Website

Museum Day Hours of Operation
11:00am - 6:00pm

The Loyola University Museum of Art is dedicated to exploring, promoting, and understanding art and artistic expression that illuminates the enduring spiritual questions of all cultures and societies. The Loyola University Museum of Art reflects the University’s Jesuit identity and is dedicated to helping people of all creeds to explore their faith and spiritual quest.

The Museum interprets and displays the University’s medieval, Renaissance, and Baroque collection, known as the Martin D’Arcy Collection, other museum permanent collections, and rotating exhibitions.

Exhibits
Pilgrimage and Faith: Buddhism, Christianity, and Islam

The historic religious tradition of the pilgrimage in Buddhism, Christianity, and Islam is explored through art and material culture.

Contemporary Arabic Calligraphy by Nihad Dukhan

Arabic calligraphy is an expression of the Islamic spirit, and different classical styles of the letters offer a calligrapher unlimited possibilities.

Gilded Glory: European Treasures from the Martin D'Arcy Collection

A little-known gem of Chicago's museum scene, the Martin D'Arcy Collection is one of the finest collections of medieval, Renaissance and Baroque art in the Midwest. Installed in dramatic galleries, the collection contains primarily three-dimensional pieces.

Read more: http://www.smithsonianmag.com/museumday/venues/Loyola-University-Museum-of-Art.html#ixzz10kERPjUg