

Clean Your Device:

Protect your data

Scrub-a-Dub-Dub! Clean your device by removing any unwanted applications. The first step is to delete your account, and the second step is to delete the application itself from your device.

Another step in cleaning your device is to review application permissions. Be sure to turn-off any permissions that an application does not need to function.

Rinse away! These steps should be taken every few months to make sure your data is being protected.
